

HOW TO PLAY

winter memories

Start Here: Leading Winter Activities

Who this is for

Caregivers, activity directors, and families sharing the winter months with an older adult. Every activity is low prep, needs only the printout and a kind voice, and works one on one or with a small group.

How to lead it

Read slowly and leave plenty of room to answer. In the conversation activities there are no wrong answers, only stories worth hearing. For the quizzes, offer gentle hints and celebrate every try. Twenty or thirty minutes is plenty for one sitting.

A gentle note

Winter and the holidays can bring bittersweet memories as well as happy ones. Follow the person's lead. If a memory brings warmth, linger there. If a topic feels heavy, move on to the next card. Connection is the whole goal.

CONVERSATION

- ☐ Tell me about walking to school on a cold winter morning
- ☐ Did you ever go sledding, and where did you go
- ☐ How did your family keep the house warm in winter
- ☐ What did you wear to stay warm as a child
- ☐ Tell me about a winter storm you will never forget
- ☐ Did you ever make a snowman or a snow angel
- ☐ What did you and the other children do outside in the cold
- ☐ What was the best thing to come inside to after playing in the snow
- ☐ Did you ever go ice skating or sliding on a frozen pond
- ☐ What chores had to be done before a big snow came
- ☐ Tell me about a winter coat or a pair of boots you remember
- ☐ What did the mornings sound like after a heavy snow
- ☐ Did your family travel in winter, and how did you get there
- ☐ What did you do on a long dark evening before bed
- ☐ Tell me about a fire, a stove, or a radiator you remember well
- ☐ What was the coldest you have ever been
- ☐ What did winter smell like in your house
- ☐ Who did you spend the winter months with
- ☐ What is your happiest memory of a winter long ago
