remember when

Start Here: Leading a Reminiscence Activity

Who this is for

Caregivers, activity directors, and families spending time with an older adult. Every activity is low prep, needs only the printout and a warm voice, and works one on one or with a small group.

How to lead it

Read slowly and give plenty of time to answer. There are no wrong answers in the conversation activities, only stories worth hearing. For the quizzes, offer gentle hints and celebrate every try. Keep sessions to twenty or thirty minutes.

A gentle note

Follow the person's lead. If a memory brings joy, linger there. If a topic feels heavy, move to the next card. The goal is connection and a good moment together, not a perfect score.
